It is a never-ending task to get a healthy meal on the table.

The World Meeting of Families Update

The WMOF will engage the entire region and attract millions of visitors from over 150 nations looking to be a part of history as Pope Francis makes his first papal visit to the United States this September. To help commemorate the historic occasion and create a lasting legacy in our community, the World Meeting of Families and the City of Philadelphia Mural Arts Program have commissioned world-renowned artist Cesar Viveros to develop a beautiful, family-themed mural that will capture the essence of this year's 2015 World Meeting of Families theme, "Love Is Our Mission: The Family Fully Alive."

The completed mural, titled The Sacred Now: Faith and Family in the 21st Century, will transform the brick façade of the new St. Malachy School campus into a vibrant Philadelphia landmark that will be a symbol of pride for the students, faculty and surrounding neighborhoods. With a long and storied place in the Catholic community of Philadelphia, St. Malachy's roots go back to 1850 when it was known as the "Church in the Woods," paying homage to its location on the rural outskirts of the city. Located in a North Philadelphia neighborhood struggling with poverty, St. Malachy has been a beacon of hope, welcoming children of all faiths and ethnicities to pursue their passion for education and community.
